THE OLD ENTHUSIAST.

[S. E. Kiser in the Chicago Record-Herald.]

There's a glad, old-fashioned feeling stealing over me once more;

I forget that I'm grey-headed and am

varying on three score;

There are many weighty matters that my earnest care should claim—

But come on, old man, let's knock off

and go out to see the game.

Let's get a bag of peanuts and be boys

again and shout.

For the men who hunt the leather and who line three-baggers out;

Let's go out and root and holler and

forget that we have cares,

And that still the world has markets

which are worked by bulls and bears.

Every year or two they tell us that base ball is out of date,

But each spring it's back in fashion

when they line up at the plate,

When the good old, glad old feeling comes again to file its claim—

When a man can turn from trouble

and go out to see the game.

Come, let's sneak away, pretending duty summons us elsewhere.

For out there is happy freedom from men's worries and their care.

Why consider we the wrinkles or remember old mistakes,

When we may be glowing over the fine plays the home team makes?

I can feel the warm blood rushing through my veins again—hooray!

See those slender pennants waving! Hear the umpire calling "Play!"

Yah! you bluffer—no, you didn't—

aw say, umpire, that's a shame—

What two strikes? Come off, you robber! ! ! * * * ! ! !

Well, you're rotten, all the same.

Oh, if we'd a man like Anson or Dan

Brothers used to be

To hold down that first bag—Moses!

What a corker that was! Gee!

Go it! Slide, you chump—you've got to—never touched him! Yip!

Hurray!

Say, that boy's a wonder—hold it!

Aw, the dub, they've caught 'em,

—pshaw! ! ! * * * ! ! !

THE CZAR'S EASTER DECREE

Grants Some Religious Toleration in Russia

BUT NO GENERAL AMNESTY

Liberty of Worship Conceded to the Old Believers, who Own the Greater Part of Moscow—Will Celebrate at Tsarkoe-Selo.

St. Petersburg, May 1.—A decree conceding liberty of worship to the Old

Believers and abolishing the religious disabilities of the Roman Catholics and other Christian communities and the Mohammedans was published yesterday.

The decree also provides that secession

from the orthodox church will not involve any prosecution or the deprivation or curtailment of civil rights. When one of a married couple joins another religious sect, the religion of their minor children will remain unchanged, but when a married couple both change their religion their children under 14 years old will follow the belief of their parents.

Old Believers and sectarians are accorded the right to possess real and personal property and to establish monasteries and build schools, which will be subject to the control of the minister of public worship. The prohibition of the printing and circulation of Old

Believers' books on religion is abolished.

Schismatics will be admitted to cadet and military schools and may be promoted to the officers. The prohibition of the bestowal of the bravery medal

on the various unorthodox sects will be abolished. The Old Believers are an immensely wealthy sect, owning the greater part of Moscow.

Emperor Nicholas' Easter gifts, in addition to the decree on the subject of religious freedom, consist of a series of ukases which are published in the Official Messenger. One of the imperial announcements remits the peasants' arrangements of taxes and back payments

on account of lands given to them at the time of their emancipation, amounting to about $37,500,000. Although no

general amnesty for political offenses

will be granted, pardon will be extended to certain classes of prisoners, including those arrested for participation in the disturbances of January 22. Besides this, it is reported that an important official announcement will be made in connection with the rescript of March 3.

Beautiful weather prevailed and the popular boulevards were crowded.

The great midnight Easter services

passed off without a vestige of disorder. The crowds in the churches were enormous and there were tens of thousands of persons around the St. Isaac's, Kazan and other famous cathedrals. The throngs were so dense that the processions of the clergy with church banners

had to be surrounded by troops and gendarmes in order to force their way through.

Heart Weakness.

Dr. Miles' Heart Cure has made many hearts well after they have been pronounced hopeless. It has completely cured thousands, and will almost invariably cure or benefit every case of heart disease.

Short breath, pain around heart, palpitation, fluttering, dizzy, fainting and smothering spells should not be neglected. Take Dr. Miles' Heart Cure and see how quick you will be relieved.

It cannot make a new heart, but will restore a sick one by strengthening the heart nerves and muscles, relieving the unnatural strain, and restoring its vitality.

"I had very bad case of heart trouble. For six months I could not work. Last July I was plowing corn and feeling bad all day; in the afternoon I was plowing one row I had to lay down, or fall down, three times. My heart throbbed as though it would burst through and I had difficulty in getting my breath. I purchased a bottle of Dr. Miles' Heart Cure, and before I had used half of it I could lay down and sleep all night. Finally I had to get up from five to ten times a night. I have taken several bottles and my heart is as regular as clock work. I feel like a new man, and can work considerable for an old man, 54 years old."

H. D. McCall, Frost, Ohio.

Dr. Miles' Heart Cure is sold by your druggist, who will guarantee that it will give you relief. If it fails he will refund your money.

NAN PATTERSON INTERVIEWED.

She Talks to the Reporters About the Coggins Letter.

New York, May 1.—Nan Patterson, after a restless, sleepless night in her cell in the Tombs prison in New York still seemed confident Saturday that she would be freed of the charge that she murdered "Caesar" Young. Broken in spirit by the terrible ordeal of Saturday, when her sister was forced to give most damaging evidence against her on the witness stand, the girl was in a pitiable condition Friday night, and both she and her sister required the attention of the prison nurses in the cell which they occupy together in the prison hospital ward. Miss Patterson received a number of newspaper men in the prison Saturday and talked with them freely regarding her case. The interview was arranged by her counsel, but none of them was present at the meeting. Miss Patterson said she was thoroughly in accord with the decision of her counsel not to put in a defense. She considered it an eminently proper course. She praised the courage of Mr. Levy, her chief counsel, in daring to submit the case to the jury on the prosecution's evidence. "I am not at all afraid of anything that 'Midget' has said on the stand," she said as she placed her hand on her sister's arm. Miss Patterson continued: "What do you think of Mr. Rand showing the letter I wrote to Leslie Coggins. That letter is the one letter that every girl writes at least once in her life. I was not on good terms with Young at that time. I was practically engaged to Mr. Coggins. He professed to love me very much, but now I feel sure he was playing me false. Mr. Coggins came to see me last summer in my cell here in the prison. He gave me $50. He told me how sorry he was for me and he said—I remember his words, 'Nan, now you see what a mistake you have made by not marrying me.'"

ISLAND "BREWERY" CLOSED?

So Reported in Brattleboro, Though No Positive Action Taken.

Brattleboro, May 1.—It was currently reported at Brattleboro, Saturday, that the "brewery" so called, on the island, on the New Hampshire side of the Connecticut, had been permanently closed, owing to the failure of its proprietors to secure a renewal of their liquor license from New Hampshire authorities.

There has been much opposition to the granting of the license from the people of Brattleboro, who had petitioned the governor and other officials to that end.

In a few days it is expected that positive action will be taken by the commissioners of the "Granite state."

Is Good for Many Ills.

"Seven Barks is Good for More Diseases than It's Recommended for,"

Writes an Ohio Lady.

The Manufacturing Chemist Tells Why.

The American chemist who introduced "Seven Barks" into this country spent an entire year in the sanitarium and laboratory of Dr. Franz Gauswain, at Wiesbaden, Germany, negotiating for the formula, studying the process of extraction and watching the astounding results produced on the patients of that famous sanitarium, chemist and physician, before he undertook its preparation for the American health-seeking public. This American chemist had known for many years that the bark of a certain species of Hydrangea plant possessed unequalled medicinal properties for certain diseases, but he was not any other chemist; ever thought it possible that one plant could produce elements which in certain combination, acted so quickly as a cathartic, purgative, diuretic and expectorant. The above is in explanation why its compound makes claims, which
